LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

There was fire in the woman's eye, the ound of battle in her voice. The man at "Complaints," he said. "Everybody who has any fault to find with the management of this store is respectfully requested to register her kicks in this book. Every morning the managers of the different departments look over the entries of the pre-oeding day. If a customer has been subjected to impudence, if she has had difficulty in getting waited on, if goods have not been delivered promptly, or if a hundred and one other disagreeable things have happened, all she has to do is to say so, and every effort will be product to improve the conditions will be made to improve the conditions always provided that the complainant signs

ner right name, so that she may be produced

The conductor of an orchestra who wanted to engage his soloists last year with as little expense as possible finds that it has same natisfactory arrangement. He offered

New Yorkers are not nearly so punctual

as Londoners, according to the testimony

"There is no waiting for tardy guests at he has arrived. Persons who are later must come into the dining room alone, and such a thing is a marked rudeness not

In the "life saving station," the room set tross measuring nine feet from tip to tip.

It was a present to the club from Capt entertained by members of the club. Capt.

Good Hope, and it was such a fine specimen that he gave it to the club in appreciation

"Have you seen the albatross?" asked one member of the club. Everybody moved to the room where thirsts are killed. Now when a Larchmont man says "Have you seen the albatross?" or "Let's look at the wedding gifts. There are copper candle-

Along the trolley line between Flushing and College Point, in Queens, is a steep hill. The road runs parallel to the trolley track and is the route of the truck farm wagons from Long Island to New York

At the foot of this hill are two teams

their drivers sitting astride a two wheel frame, to which is attached a heavy rope with a hook. As the neavily laden farm wagons stop for a moment the drivers

call out:

"Give you a pull?" and the deal is closed.

Twenty-five cents is the charge for each trip up the hill, which is about an eighth of a mile long, and the pull syndicate supports two teams and several families.

The effects of ether, or at least the illusions which those who have taken it suffer from, are varied. Upon coming out of ether the other day a prominent man conlessed to being a murderer and told the details of his crime with harrowing exact-ness.

Fortunately the attending doctor had seen Sir Henry Irving in "The Bells" and recognized at once the duplication. Later inquiry showed that the patient had seen the play some years ago, but had forgotten it entirely. His alter ego had not, however.

Meeting to Protest Against Condition of Fulton Street, Brooklyn.

by the Business Men's League of Brooklyn

will be held in Association Hall, in Bond street near Fulton street, Brooklyn, on Thursday evening, October 18, to protest against the condition in which the contracting builders of the subway in that borough allow Fulton street to remain, in spite of the specifications of their contract. The street is obstructed, the business men say, uncleanly and dangerous. There will be a grand concert from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. A band will play outside and there will be a display of fireworks by Pain tors are to address the meetings and be tween the addresses actors from every theatre in Brooklyn will furnish entertain-ment. An illuminated parade after the meeting is being talked of.

W. E. Corey Denies That He is to Be Married.

W. E. Corey denied yesterday at his office

the report from Washington that he is to be married to Miss Mabelle Gilman, the

"I have absolutely no intention of going

Hearst at the Garden on Oct. 22.

William R. Hearst will speak at a mass

neeting to be held in Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, October 22. The actress, in Paris next month.

abroad at present," he added.

for the entertainment of overflow ings that are to begin at 8:45 o'clock

An indignation mass meeting called by way of the Ninety-ninth street ferry.

albatross"

charm of novelty.

there is no doubt about what

of a man who spent the past season in the English capital.

have anything to say."

a heavy blue volume.
"Write it down there," he said.

"What is that for?" she asked.

GOOD-BY, SILVEIRA'S ARGOSY.

CARMELINA BELIEVED TO BE IN THE PORT OF MISSING SHIPS.

that brought about the failure. Many in the Street frankly professed themselves unable to believe that any case having so many elements of romance could have substantial foundation in truth. They did not see how it was possible for Silveira to get away with so much money, how he could have found a haven of refuge and how he could so have deceived his principals. Now, any number of advices from Havana have substantiated the reports of his securing money from the Cuban Not Much Doubt Here That She Has Been Scuttled Somewhere, Probably on the Venezuela Coast-Career of the Little Cuban as a King of the Lobby.

Now that twelve days have elapsed from Havana have substant ated the reports of his securing money from the Cuban treasury, of his studied preparations for departure and of his certain knowledge of many places where he could settle down without molestation. In the opinion of lawyers connected with the case there remains only confirmation of the belief that the fugitive is in Venezuela to clear up all the essential facts of a failure unparalleled in the history of Wall Street for dramatic features. since the sailing from Havana of the steamship Carmelina, bearing Senor Manuel Silveira, his wife and dependents and unknown sums of other people's money, and the argosy has not been sighted from land sea, the members of the defrauded firm of J. M. Ceballos & Co. fear that she will never be sighted.* Their belief is settling into a conviction that Silveira and his associates have already safely landed their booty, in all probability in Venezuela, and that, the landing made, the Carmelina has been scuttled.

It is pointed out that unless Silveira tool the precaution to ship double the ordinary coal supply of the vessel the bunkers must have been emptied ere this. The ship was sed for traffic between Havana and Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, and for this short trip no heavy coal supply is ordinarily carried. On the present expedition the Carmelina cleared for New York, and it is regarded as unlikely that she could have taken on coal supply greater than for seven days at the outside without attracting suspicion.

'In my opinion," said John S. Fiske, one of the members of Ceballos & Co., yesterday, "Silveira could have landed at La Guayra, the principal port of Venezuela, and with the connivance of President Castro, which we are certain he could have had, he could have kept the intelligence of his debarkation from reaching the outside world. But we do not think he landed at La Guayra, for the reason that there are hundreds of other places on the Venezuelan coast where he could land without risk of giving the slightest clue to his whereabouts. With the booty safely ashore I cannot see what use the Carmelina would be to him. She could not navigate the seas without our libelling her. The ship was absolutely of no use to him once he was off her. If, as we believe, he has already landed, I cannot see how he could better serve his purposes than by sending her to the bottom."

Mr. Fiske scouted the idea that any part of Silveira's large alleged peculations had found its way into the pockets of Cuban insurgents. "If Silveira was at all interested in the insurrection," he said, "we had not then nor have we had since the slightest intimation of it. At any rate you can depend on it that we favored no insurrectionary movement. It was to our interests, and it is yet, to have peace and order on the island. Otherwise the pursuit of legitimate business is impossible. And since Silveira was interested in many industries with us, he had certainly nothing to gain by fomenting rebellion." "Don't believe that Silveira gave up any money to the insurgents," remarked William Nelson Cromwell, dryly. "From all I can find out about him he wasn't that kind of a patriot."

From conversations with many bankers and business men having large interests in Cuba it appears to be pretty well established that the fugitive Cuban was the most notorious lobbyist on the island. In all matters relating to appropriations, franchises and, in general, acts affecting private business interests, he was more nfluential than any other man with the Legislature of the short lived republic.

His greatest stroke of business in this profession, it is conceded by those familiar with the reports teeming in Havana a year ago, was in the appropriation of $16,000,000 in cash and $12,000,000 in bonds for the payment of the remaining half of the Cuban warrants. This appropria secured last year.

According to Mr. Ceballos, his house paid to Silveira amounts ranging from 85 cents to 95 cents on the dollar for the $5,000,000 of warrants secured by Ceballos & Co. Assuming that the many other a co. Assuming that the many other american and foreign bankers who purchased them from Silveira paid a similar amount, or, for the sake of the argument, assuming that 80 cents on the dollar was the price left to him, there still remained to Silveira a margin of profit of 30 per cent. for it has been very clearly established that the soldiers did not receive more than an average of 50 per cent. for the warrants

Silveira, as was stated by one of the bankers interested in an authorized interview in THE SUN on Friday, was the collecting agent not only for Ceballos & Co. but for many other bankers both in this city and abroad. He had a profit of 30 per cent. coming to him on the payment of the warrants and he must have been interested in at least $10,000,000 of them. Thus he had, if he were interested in but a quarter of the warrants, more than $2,000,000. quarter of the warrants, more than $2,000,000 for profit and working expenses.

"The report of a $500,000 corruption fund to secure the passage of the appropriation bill was everywhere current in Havana at the time the bill was passed," said a man who was in Havana on business at the time. "The developments that have been brought out since Silveira's flight may give a clue to the source of these reports and assist any one who might care now to investigate the truth of them."

Silvera's prominence as a lobbyist is interesting also in connection with a report that he was interested with William Tecumseh Burbridge of Tenderloin gambling fame in that venturesome individual's project for the establishment of a racetrack broject for the establishment of a racetrack near Havana. Burbridge will be recalled as the proprietor of the gambling house with the mirror staircase in West Thirty-third street which was put out of business by one of Jerome's spectacular raids. He has since spent much of his time in Havana. He opened there an elaborately fitted gambling place, which was closed by the police. ing place, which was closed by the police but since then he appears to have come to an understanding with the Cuban authori-ties. The report is that the understanding was reached through the mediation of Sil

For the last year much has been heard from time to time of a big racetrack in a suburb of Havana on which there was to be racing in the months during which the metropolitan season is closed. Big Tim Sullivan and Frank Farrell have been reported to be interested in the project and it has been understood that the track would opened this winter. Silveira, according to the report, was interested in this scheme, securing stock not from the investment of capital but as a return for influence with the authorities.

Ceballos of course knew nothing of this scheme, as for that matter the firm knew nothing of many enterprises which, it has since learned, Silveira had an interest in. One of the members of the firm said he had heard much of the racetrack project the last time he was in Havana, but though he was not now at all surpresed at sugges-tions of Silveira's being in the game the firm had had no news to that effect.

An army of accountants is getting the affairs of the suspended firm into tangible shape. It is believed that the worst is now known regarding the habilities and that the original estimate of $3,500,000 will not be exceeded. The ablity of the firm to resume business, it is believed depends largely upon conditions in Cuba. With peaceful conditions there a good market could be found for the firm's Cuban se-curities. original estimate of $3.500,000 will not

The members of the firm have practically abandoned hope of securing the money made away with by Silvera. They expect to find him some time, but with the conviction that he is in Venezuela comes the conviction, too, that he may remain there for many months at least without knowledge of his months.

knowledge of his presence penetrating the Vil am Nelson Cromwell pointed out terday that all the developments since assignment was made corroborate the statement given out at that time. This fact is gratifying to the members of the firm for the reason that much incredulity

BOSTON MEN ESCORTING.

Irish Regiment of the National Guard

mmber, from Col. Edward Duffy to Drum in tiptop fashion, although full informa tion as to the closing incidents of the cele-bration were not obtainable at a late hour last night.

men brought, modest as a shamrock, no less a personage than Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who never makes a speech unless Yesterday's celebration began, in true Irish humor, the night before. The Ninth Massachusetts got in from Boston early in the evening and after being escorted to the old armory of the Sixty-ninth, where it made its bivouac for its stay here, broke up and was taken around the town. The regiments are friends of old, and the Sixtyninth went over to Boston in full regalia to pay them a visit when the Boston regi-

The celebration of yesterday proper got into full swing with the big parade. The two frish-American regiments marched out of the old armory shortly after 1 o'clock and in Astor place met the other forces that had assembled to give a good sendoff to the regiment in its new home. They set out with flags flying, four bands playing at the same time and the spectators clapping their hands and fluttering tiny flags of the American and Irish colors all along the

Up Broadway and Fifth avenue the regiments went swinging, the grays of the Seventh in the van. At Thirty-fifth street a reviewing stand had been erected in front of the Engineers' Club, and spectators banked on both sides of the avenue

Volunteers, doggedly marching along, sup-ported by the young grandson of one of his Twenty-sixth street the leading command dropped out to line the walks on either and Twenty-sixth street.

and Twenty-sixth street.

The other organizations, except the batteries, followed until 2,200 men stood at present arms on the big drill floor. The first ceremony was the simple one of the presentation of the battle scarred flags of the two veterans' organizations to the men lifted a couple of ambulance stretchers shoulder high and made a rough platform shoulder high and made a rough platform the Boston Mayor had no recourse but to make an earnest speech, which all agreed the point of champagne bottles to dislodge them. A truce was patched up which the various parties to it were still celebrating at a late hour. The rank and file at the same time celebrated in the basement and a ball and promenade concert followed on Lexington avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets, and extends back to within eighty feet of Fourth avenue. It is four stories high and built of soft toned red brick, with trimmings of freestone The drill hall measures 202 by 168 feet, with arches springing completely across the hall with a span of 92 feet. There is a large gymnasium on the second floor and a com-plete equipment of mess halls, company and dressing rooms, reception rooms, band rooms, and other rooms designed for the comfort and convenience of the men.

on Tuesday Night. William R. Hearst will not be present at the Tammany Hall ratification meeting at the Fourteenth street headquarters next Tuesday night, but his voice will be there When the date of the meeting was first arranged, just after the Buffalo convention, it was announced that Mr. Hearst would be the chief speaker at the meeting, but when the differences arose between Mr. Hearst and Mr. Murphy on the makeup of the judiciary ticket an itinerary was drawn up for Mr. Hearst which called for his up for Mr. Hearst which called for his presence in Oswego on the night of the Tammany Hall meeting.

But while those who attend the meeting will not see Mr. Hearst they will listen to a speech from him from a phonograph, Mr. Hearst has talked into phonograph records for the edification of villagers whom it was impossible for him to reach in his tours through the State, and the Tammanyites are to have the same treat. meeting is being arranged by the Inde-pendence League and it is intended to have fireworks again. In addition to Mr. Hearst all the candidates on the Demo-cratic State ticket will make addresses.

TAFT PARTY SAILS FOR HOME.

the desk saw her coming and pushed forward SECRETARY'S GREAT WORK IN QUELLING CUBAN TROUBLE.

> Found the Country in Indescriba Life-Magoon Issues a Proclamation

HAVANA. Oct. 13 .- Secretary of and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon sailed from Havana for Newport News at o'clock this afternoon on the battleship Louisiana. With them sailed Mrs. Taff and Mrs. Bacon. The battleship Virginia steamed out in the wake of the Louisiana, carrying Gen. Funston. The battleship New Jersey completed the homeward bound as a witness."

The woman looked over the four pages of complaints that had been entered on that complaints that had been entered of day only.

"What a queer idea," she said.

"It may be queer," he said, "but it is a mighty good idea. It is a great labor saver. Without that book we would have to hire half a dozen extra employees. Did you write down your complaint?"

"No," said the woman, "I don't believe I have anything to say." The vessel soon slipped her moorings, pointed her nose seaward, ran up her spied cones and slipped down the harbor, her guns booming a national salute as she passed Cabanas fortress. Secretaries Taft and Bacon and their wives stood under an not been as easy to make this season the with enthusiastic Cubans, most of whom as Morro Castle. When the Virginia steame Cuban national anthem, but nobody seemed to pay the slightest attention to it.

same satisfactory arrangement. He offered the artists as a fee a certain share of the gross receipts. When the soloists accepted this arrangement they did not know the small size of the receipts usually. When one popular player got $40 as his share, however, the bubble burst.

"It was not my fault that you received so little," said the conductor. "If there had been more people anxious to hear you there would have been a larger audience and your share would have been more. So long as you did not draw the money I don't see just why I should be called on to pay you any more."

This artist, discomfited as he was at the time, felt that he must have a very strong month ago he found the country in intime, felt that he must have a very strong hold on the public heart when he heard of another soloist who received less than $25 as his fee. task of the utmost difficulty and delicacy.

Cuba has entirely resumed her normal condition. The farmers have returned to work and business is going on as usual The opposing armies have disbanded, and all this has been accomplished without the loss of a single life since the armistice dinners," he said, "as there always is in New York, and it is rarely necessary, for Taft won the heart of every Cuban who the reason that most of the guests are on time. In New York it is very unusual for a dinner to begin earlier than twenty minapproached him, no matter what faction he might be associated with. It is perfectly utes after the time mentioned in the invi-tation; but nothing of the kind happens in London. The cause of this promptness is the frequent presence of royalty in some remote branch or at least of some man or woman of title, who is always in a measure evident that the mass of Cubans bave every confidence that the Government will be administered entirely in their interest till such time as America may safely leave it to themselves again. guest of honor. He is almost invari-y on time, and dinner never waits after his proclamation: Proclamation to the People of Cuba:

to the hostess only, but to the most important guest." apart as a haven for the thirsty in the Larchmont Yacht Club house, is a mounted alba-F. C. Mullan, an Irish skipper of an English vessel, who was here this summer and was strictly adhered to and carried out.

Mullan shot the bird rounding the Cape of that he gave it to the club in appreciation of the good time he had here.

The club has a collection of souvenirs and curios, but the room in which they are kept was crowded and the albatross was put in the life saving station. When Sir Thomas Lipton was at the club last week the members told him about the albatross.

"Year year seen the albatross?" asked agencies and methods of the Government of the Constitution and all laws the appli-Copper is the smart material now and t comes in such attractive guise that it is provided for by the third article of the running silver a close race as favorite for and effect.

> The transport vessels Monterey and Seneca, which arrived here yesterday sailed for New York to-day and will go out of Government commission on their arrival there. The steamer Admiral Sampson arrived to-day with 284 men and fifteen officers of the Eleventh Infantry and nine officers and 114 men of the medical department. The Taarholm is expected to sail from Newport News direct to Sagua with horses for the Fifteenth Cavalry at Santa

> > GORKY SAILS.

Mme. Andreieva Says the Americans Simply

Maxim Gorky, the Russian revolutionist and writer, accompanied by his companion, Mme. Andreieva, sailed from Hoboken vesterday on the steamship Prinzess Irene for Naples. Gorky had nothing to say of America or Americans.

"I am writing a book to be called 'Mother.' n which my views of the country and the people are being set down," said he when pressed for some sort of an expression of his feelings. And that was all.

simply could not understand. She had no ill feeling toward them for that, however, and had enjoyed her stay here.

was among the party of a score that were at the pier to say good-by to the pair. He and Gorky embraced and kissed each other. The boy is going West to sail or New Zealand. After the ship had sailed he said that the mission of his guardian to this country had been accomplished in spite of the things the newspapers had said about

CALL TO BROOKLYN DEMOCRATS.

ing to Consider Mr. Hearst. Col. James D. Bell, chairman of the Democratic county committee in Brooklyn, has

Tuesday evening, to take action on the result of the Buffalo convention. Democratic sentiment in Brooklyn is strongly opposed to the candidacy of Mr. Hearst and to his methods, and that it will be voiced to the utmost possible limit by the delegate to the county committee is confidently enator P. H. McCarren will review the history of the Buf alo convention and tell all about the work of the Independence League in putting up local tickets in antagon-ism to the regular Democratic candidates.

James McCreery & Co.

23rd Street.

34th Street.

All merchandise advertised will be on sale in both Houses unless otherwise specified.

These two stores are established and will be permanently maintained in conjunction: both are stocked throughout with merchandise of standard quality, with many objects of art that are rare and valuable, and much that is of more than usual ex-

The Twenty-third Street House is as completely equipped with Silks, Woolen Dress Goods, Draperies, Laces and every accesory for the home or the wardrobe as is the newer half of the McCreery establishment in Thirty-fourth Street.

In the Thirty-fourth Street Store the departments are classified as follows:

Lower Floor.-Tranks and Travelling Accessories.

First Floor .- Lace Robes, Laces, Ribbons, Feather Beas, Trimmings, Robes, Jewelry, Leather Goods, Stationery, Toilet Articles, Gloves, Hosiery; Men's Haberdashery, Bath Robes, Men's OFFICES.—Assistant Superintendent, Cashier, Credit, Call Desk, Information Public Telephone Booths, Transfer Desk.

Second Floor.—Silks, Velvet and Velveteens, Chiffons, Black Dress Goods, Linens, Blankets, Flannels; Washable
Dress Goods, White Dress Goods, Woolen Dress Goods.

Third Floor.—Trimmed Millinery. Untrimmed Millinery, Waists, Muslin Underwear, Corsets, Merino Underwear, Ladies' Waiting Room. Ladies' Retiring Room, Ladies' Toilet Room.

Fourth Floor. - Dressmaking Order Room, Suits. Cloaks. Misses; Suits and Cloaks. Furs.

Fifth Floor,-JUVENILE DEPARTMENT-Children's (4 to 14 IB F100r. years), Infants' Outfitting, Boys' Clothing, Sweaters, Caps. Shoes, Children's Millinery, Boys' and Girls' Hosiery, Children's Sixth Floor.—Art China, Bric-a-Brac, Hall Clocks, Curio Tables and Cabinets, Colonial and Antique Furniture.

Seventh Floor .- Upholstery Goods, Lace Curtains, Art Embroidery Goods, Craftsman Furniture and Fabrics, Louis XVI. Reception Room, Louis XV. Bedreom, Interior Decoration, Fine Lace Curtains, Bedsets, etc. Craftsman display of suite consisting of Bedroom, Living Room, Hall, Dining Room, Library and Office. Brass and Metal Bedstead Beddings.

Eighth Floor .- Rugs and Carpets, General Offices. Hospital.

23rd Street.

34th Street.

FIRE CHIEF HODGKINSON DEAD

Was Being Brought Home From Key West by His Son.

J., Oct. 13 .- Fire Chief Hod kinson, who for twenty years had been at the head of the Orange Fire Department, died on the train arriving at Jacksonville, Fla., at noon to-day.

He left Orange about two weeks ago to attend the international convention of fire engineers at Dallas, Tex. He became ill on the steamer and at Kev West was taken off and conveyed to the Hotel Jefferson. For a time it seemed as if he would die at ment but later he made improvement any moment, but later he made improvement and apparently was getting well so rapidly that his son, Thomas, who had gone to Key West, started home with him.

He was appointed to the department in 1870. He became foreman of Engine 1 in 1881 and in 1887 was made chief. In 1889 he received injuries that nearly killed him while riding on a hook and ladder truck to a midnight fire. The truck was struck by a train at the Centre street crossing and wrecked. A few years later he was caught in the collapse of a floor in a burning Cone street tenement and had in a burning Cone street tenement and had

JOHN CHADWICK DEAD. Dealer in Curios for Haif a Century-His Last Voyage to Spain.

John Chadwick, who has been a dealer in Spanish and Moorish curios for fifty years and who had a store at 307 Fifth avenue, died yesterday at his apartments in the Stratford House, 11 East Thirtysecond street. He was 92 years old. He was born in Rector street in 1814.

He was married when he was 18 to the daughter of John M. Davies, one of the pioneer manufacturers of haberdashery in this city. He moved to Newark in his youth and was one of the first men to go when he returned to this city fifty years ago he went into the curio busi that time he has made over fifty trips to Spain and North Africa, collecting novelties.

He made his last trip last summer, going alone in spite of the protests of his family and physician. He is survived by one son, four daughters and thirteen grand-

FUNERAL OF DANIEL O'DAY. Service To-morrow Morning in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. The body of Daniel O'Day arrived here last night on the steamship New York from Southampton. Mrs. O'Day, her three daughters and two young sons, came on the same boat. There will be a service over the body on Monday morning at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Seventy-first street, near Broadway, after which the family will go direct to Buffalo. The New York was nearly six hours late in arriving because of severe were on Wednesday and Thursday. Among the passengers were St. Clair McKelway, Mollie Elliott Seawell, Margaret Hubbard Ayer and the Rev. Claudius M.

VAN ETTEN TO QUIT N.Y. CENTRAL

Vice-President to Head Long Acre Light, Heat and Power Co. Boston, Oct. 13 .- Edgar Van Etten, vice-president of the New York Central Lines. in charge of the Boston and Albany Railroad, is to resign at an early date to accept the presidency of the Long Acre Light. Heat and Power Company of New York. Mr. Van Etten said to-day:

"It is true that I have tentatively accepted

"It is true that I have tentatively accepted the presidency of the Long Acre company. By 'tentatively' I mean that I shall assume the management of the affairs of that corporation if certain matters are arranged according to my suggestion and certain conditions are compiled with. I have been assured that everything will be done as desired and in all probability I shall retire from the New York Central."

WHAT IS

"PHENOL (Buchan's) ABSOLUT" It is the successful achievement of the World's most famous Laboratory. ODORLESS CARBOLIC (100% pure) Acknowledged by all Scientists to be the greatest antiseptic. We are, and have been for years the only Soap manufacturers in the World to combine with other absolutely pure materials "PHENOL ABSOLUT." producing a Toilet Soap unsurpessed for its purity and antiseptic qualities.

Ask Your Physician Your Dentist Your Druggist

What "PHENOL ABSOLUT" is. BUCHAN'S TOILET SOAP CO. 230 PEARL STREET

NEW YORK CITY

Obituary Notes.

Major Clarence T. Barrett died at his home Major Clarence T. Barrett died at his home in West New Brighton, Staten Island, on Friday, in his sixty-fifth year. In the early days of the War of the Rebellion he enlisted and saw much active service. When he was only 19 years of age he was made Lieutenant and soon advanced to higher places. At the battle of Mobile Bay he was brevetted Major. After the war he became a civil engineer. He was elected Justice of the Peace, Supervisor of the Poor and later Commissioner of Police, which place he held for many years. A wife, two sisters and two brothers survive him.

brothers survive him.

Mabel Thorne Wright, well known as a club woman and prominent in connection with the foundation of many of the women's clubs of the Weet, died at Saranac Lake yesterday, at the age of 35 years. Mrs. Wright was the wife of J. Willard Wright of the J. Willard Wright Machine Company of St. Louis. She went to Saranac Lake three years ago, and with her mother, Mrs. E. D. Chase Thorne, had occupied the Bullis cottage since then. Mrs. Wright was connected by birth and marriage with the oldest families in New England, her mother being a member of the Page family of Boston.

Louis Dwight Pilisbury, who was for many ber of the Page family of Boston.

Louis Dwight Pillsbury, who was for many years warden of the Blackwell's Island penitentiary, and who came of a family of prison keepers, died on Friday at Hallowell, Me. Mr. Pillsbury was 75 years old. He was a grandson of John Pillsbury, who was a prison keeper in England until he came to this country as warden of the New Hampshire State Penitentiary. His father was Nathan C. Pillsbury, who built the Auburn State Prison and was warden there when his son was born, Young Pillsbury became a warden himself when he came of age. He assisted his father in building many prisons in New England.

FOLLOW up the hearty "Ha! ha!" at a luncheon and there you will find the liquid entertainer. The "digestive laugh" is the sequel of Evans' Ale.

Evans' Ale

Motels, Clubs, Restaurants, Dealers,

Same Livery Co.

as well as in your office. NEW YORK TELEPHONE OO.,

features.

Harlan F. Stone, who was appointed receiver for the Seville Packing Company of 202 Franklin street, has filed his bond and taken possession of the business. He said yesterday he had not had a chance yet to look into the books to see how the company stood, but he would continue the business for the present. He obtained an order from Judge Hough of the United States D strict Court to pay the salaries of the olive packers for the week ended October 11, amounting to $674, in order to of the olive packers for the week ended October 11, amounting to $674, in order to keep them from going to rival concerns or to prevent a str.ke, as they are skilled labor and cannot be easily replaced. By keeping the employees he can fill the orders on hand, which are large. The company has a large stock of queen olives on hand and several wholesale grocers are ready to buy the entire stock. Mr. Stone said he could not tell to what extent the company was involved in the failure of J. M. Ceballos & Co. THREE SHOTS IN THE BACK.

Jealous Man Wounds Girl Walking With Rival-She's Likely to Die. Margaret Bradley, 22 years old, of 404 West Thirty-fourth street, was shot three times in the back while walking along Thirty-fourth street between Eighth and Ninth avenues early this morning. Frank

Reis, a waiter, of 220 East Thirty-third street, who was locked up in the West expressed over the circumstances brought about the failure. Many he Street frankly professed themselves

Thirty-seventh street station house, charged with doing the shooting, said that he did it through jealousy. Reis, who was formerly attentive to the girl, ran up behind her and shot her while she was walking with another admirer. Henry Hoffman, a printer, who lives in the same house with her. The girl was taken

LABOR PARTY NOT FOR HEARST. C. F. U.'s Political Offspring Refuses to Indorse Any Candidate.

to Roosevelt Hospital, where the surgeons said she had little chance to live.

It was a very indignant gathering which met last night in Beethoven Hall, 210 Fifth street, where the convention of the Independent Labor party, the offspring of the Central Federated Union, was called to complete its list of nominations. The delegates of the party had been snubbed by the Hearst managers and came to the convention boiling with wrath.

"We wanted to see if we would combine with the Independence League and were handed a bunch of lemons," said William H. Hatch, chairman of the convention. We have nothing to do with any party and will indorse the head of no ticket." The convention after a session which lasted until early yesterday morning adopted resolutions declaring that the time was not propitious for a full ticket, that no really independent party exists with which the labor party could cooperate and that it was not wise to place a labor ticket in the

The resolutions call upon all Assembly district organizations of the party to con-tinue their meetings and to organize all trade union members in good standing Assembly district organizations.
"We have indorsed no head of a ticket," said Hatch after the meeting. You know A number of candidates for Assembly, Senate and Congress were indorsed. BRISBANE PRAISES HEARST.

Tells a Cooper Union Audience That He Is Greater Than Roosevelt. Cooper Union hall was filled last night with Hearst advocates, chiefly young men, who listened to a band that played patriotic pieces and a vaudeville artist who sang Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," while waiting for the orators to appear. Thomas Gilleran presided, and among the speakers were Arthur Brisbane, the Rev. Dr. Charles B. East, Nathan Vidaver, John S. Crosby, the Rev. Dr. Frank and Clement J. Driscoll. Julius Hauser, candidate for State Treasurer, did not show up, although he was advertised as the principal speaker. Most of the talk was in eulogy of Mr. Hearst. When Mr. Brisbane came to the front of the stage a large part of the audience stood and waved hats and handkerchiefs at him while shouting his name. Mr. Brisbane made a comparison between Mr. Hearst and President Roosevelt in their respective relations to the bosses. He said: "The Republican bosses tried to sidetrack Mr. Roosevelt by making him Vice-Presi-dent. Mr. Roosevelt in office compelled the bosses to accept him. Mr. Hearst, out of office, compelled the bosses to listen thim and to take him, and you know it

Although the bosses have been compelled to take Mr. Hearst, Mr. Hearst has never taken the bosses and he never will." HEARST BROOKLYN TICKETS. Independence League Congress and Senat Candidates in Each District.

This is the complete Hearst Congres ticket in Brooklyn: Second District, Thomas Delaney; Third; Henry Clay Peters; Fourth, Edson Lawrence; Fifth, M. A. Fitzgerald; Sixth, Robert Baker; Seventh. John T. Moran. Baker is also on the regular Democratic ticket. The Hearst Senate candidates are: Third District, W. J. Gardiner; Fourth, A. Stewart Weish: Fifth, William Madden; Sixth, Charles J. Hackett; Seventh, J. J. Holwell: Eighth, Charles H. Fuller; Ninth, Otto Wieke: Tenth, Frank R. Kane. Hackett is also the regular Democratic candidate.

Billy Madden, the well known sportingman, got the nomination in the Fifth District by the grace of the executive committee of the Independence League and not by the votes of the convention by which John J. Lannigan was nominated. The executive committee declared Lannigan ineligible and made Madden the candidate.

To Get Full Value Telephone Service you should have a telepho In your Home

THE 69TH IN ITS NEW HOME

MARCHES DOWN BROADWAY WITH

Celebrates the Opening of Its New Armory -Boston's Mayor Speaks Under

Protest-MacGowan Talks for Mayor. "Twas a great day for the Fighting Sixtyninth, was yesterday. The regiment of Irish-Americans came into its own in the form of a new armory at Lexington avenue and Twenty-sixth street, which every merboy Patsy McCann, says is the finest in the whole United States. It goes without saying that the event was celebrated

But there is no doubt of the adequacy of the celebration. There was the Seventh swinging its gray ranks down Fifth avenue, and if this was not enough there was the Old Guard lending a distinguished and portly diginity to the occasion. There also were an Admiral and two Generals of the Regular army and a couple of batteries of New York militia and Lieut.-Gov. Bruce and a glittering staff and all sorts of dignitaries. There was even a regiment from another State to grace the affair the Ninth of the Massachusetts National Guard, Irishmen too, and seven hundred strong. And with them the Massachusetts urged and never omits to be urged.

ment's new armory was opened a while ago.

route of the parade.

tors banked on both sides of the avenue gave the paraders a hearty welcome.

In the stand was the Lieutenant-Governor, representing the State, backed by large quantities of gold lace of several varieties. There also were Major-General J. T. Wade, in command of the Atlantic division of the Regular Army; Gen. Frederick D. Grant, from Governors Island; Admiral Coghlan from the Brooklyn navy yard, all with their staffs and orderlies. Supreme all with their staffs and orderlies. Supreme Court Justice James Fitzgerald had a prominent place along with many other digni-taries.

Brig.-Gen. George M. Smith, in command of the first brigade of the State National Guard, to which the Sixty-ninth belongs, led the column with his staff and was followed by the Seventh. There was quite as much cheering given the Massachusetts men, who swung along next, followed by the Old Guard and by the clattering First and Second batteries. The real applause of the afternoon came when the next marchers passed in review. They were the veterans a body of seventeen survivors of the old Sixty-ninth and twenty-five men from the other regiments of Meagher's Irish Brigade A striking picture was made by Hamilton Schuyler, 90 years old, Major-General of

Then, behind a corps of cadets from St. Cecilia's parish in Brooklyn, came the Sixty-ninth. Col. Duffy rode in the van, sixty-ninth. Col. Dury rode in the van, as stern as if it wasn't the produest day of his life. The greeting was kept up until the regiment had all passed the stand.

Across Forty-first street and down Madison avenue marched the columns, until at hand and present arms as the Sixty-ninth swung past them. The regiment marched first into its new home at Lexington avenue of the two veterans organizations to the regiment. Then came a prayer by Arch-bishop Farley and a short address by Su-preme Court Justice Pitzgerald. President McGowan of the Board of Al-derman, on behalf of Mayor McClellan, presented the armory to the regi-and Col. Duffy in a short speech ed. With an address by Lieut. Gov. Bruce the formal exercises concluded.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, however, came on the floor and strolled over toward the Massachusetts men. He had made no speech so far and when the Massachusetts was a model of the "proud to state" variety of address.

The officers and guests adjourned to the Colonel's quarters after this, where various refreshments, solid and liquid, comforted them. The Old Guard threw up strong fortifications here and defied everybody at

during the evening.

The new armory is said to be the finest, as it is one of the largest, edifices of its kind in the country. It occupies the entire block

HEARST'S VOICE TO BE THERE. Tammany to Hear It From a Phonograph

When He Went There a Month Ago He Turniofi-All Settled Without Logs of Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN

equadron. Judge Magoon, who is now Provisional

Governor of Cuba, accompanied Mr. Taft and Mr. Bacon to the battleship in a launch. As Secretary Taft boarded the warship her guns roared out the War Secretary's salute. awning on the afterdeck waving their hats at the big crowd which was cheering them from land, while a small fleet of tugs loaded were Liberals, pursued the battleship as far out the band on her afterdeck played the

When Secretary Taft came to Cuba a describable turmoil. To-day he left it almost peaceful and with enough American troops here to keep it so for some time to come. Nothing has been heard here but enthusiastic praise of the manner in which the Secretary of War has discharged a was declared. It is not too much to say that Secretary

In assuming office Gov. Magoon issued

"Acting under the authority conferred by the appendix to the Constitution of Cuba by treaty between the United States and Cuba, ratified July 1, 1904, and by an act of the Congress of the United States approved March 2, 1901, the President of the United States has appointed me Provisional Governor to succeed Gov. Taft, and I hereby assume office. The policy declared and the assurances given by Gov. Taft will be

"As Provisional Governor I shall exercise the powers and perform the duties contemplated and provided for by the third article of the appendix to the Constitution of Cuba, for the preservation of Cuban independence and the protection of life, property and individual liberty. As soon as it shall prove to be consistent with the attainment of these ends I shall seek to bring about a restoration of the ordinary under the other and general provisions of the Cuban Constitution. All the provisions cation of which for the time being would be inconsistent with the exercise of the powers appendix must be deemed in abeyance, The other provisions of the Constitution and other laws will continue in full force sticks in quaint designs, copper trays of rare beauty and much usefulness, copper jugs and jars in odd and picturesque designs, The situation in regard to yellow fever copper chafing dishes, copper vases, copis as follows: There are six cases in Havana per tamps, copper incense burners and and one in Cienfuegos, which originated probably the smartest of all are the copper there. One death, that of a Mexican, coffee sets, consisting of pot, sugar bowl and cream pitcher on a tray. These are gold lined and the color combination is pretty enough to attract attention, even if the design and material had not the occurred at Guines yesterday. The man was found sick in the street and died a few hours afterward.

Could Not Understand.

His companion, when asked what she thought of the reception she and Gorky had received, replied that the Americans

Gorky's seventeen-year-old adopted son

County Committee to Meet Tuesday Even-called a special meeting of the body for ism to the regular Democratic candidates. He will also probably have something to say about his refusal to confab with the emissaries sent by Max F. Ihmsen about a deal between the regular Democracy and the Independence League.

If Mr. Hearst does not get all that is coming to him at the headquarters of the Brooklyn Democracy on Tuesday evening a large number of people will be surprised.